I'm going to The Courtyard to watch a film.

The Courtyard is a big building with lots of glass that has a theatre, cinema and café inside.

This is what it looks like from outside.

If I arrive by car, bus or bike then I go to the car park and see the building from behind which looks like this...

Inside the theatre, the people at Box Office will help me to pick up my tickets, if I haven't already got them.

I may have to wait in a queue but I won't have to wait too long.

There will be drinks and biscuits inside the Studio Theatre. I can have some if I would like.

The film will be in the Studio Theatre which will look like this...

The film will start at 5pm but I can go into the Studio Theatre from 4pm to look around if I like.

There will be bean bags, sofas or chairs for me to sit on and I can sit where I would like.

When the film starts it will go a little bit darker (but not completely dark) and it will be a little noisy (but not too loud).

The film is called Dumbo (PG)

The film is about a flying elephant called Dumbo. This newborn elephant helps to save a struggling circus but Dumbo and his friends discover that the circus isn't very nice after all.

If I want to take a break from the film, I can leave the Studio Theatre and go to the Chill Out Area just outside.

I can return to the Studio Theatre when I am ready.

There will be colouring in and pens here which I can take back into the Studio Theatre if I would like to.

When the film has finished the lights will get a little brighter and I will leave the Studio Theatre.
